Not all of these bills are bad.

HB 6817 adds CCW reciprocity, creates tax credits for safe storage, allows for carry while hiking, and some other good stuff. We support this bill.

Microstamping. This tech has proven completely unviable in California where the idea of requiring it was first put into law. It's been required since the early 2010's since it was "validated as a viable technology" by then AG Kamala Harris and exactly zero handguns were produced with this technology. It has, however, been used to massively reduce the number of handgun options in the state while preventing residents from getting new guns added to the California roster.

HB 6816 is a waste of time and resources and we oppose it.

We've talked about the stupidity of feature bans previously many times. They are simply targeting something that "looks" scary. Cosmetics have exactly nothing to do with adding lethality when compared to their not-scary-looking wood stocked cousins; CT is updating the ban while not tackling anything resembling root causes.

Combined with making illegal possession "more" illegal, upping the penalties for simple magazine possession, and other onerous things, there's no reason to pass this bill:

HB 6667 does nothing to reduce violence and we oppose it

Rather than pursuing these ineffective and restrictive policies this legislature would better serve its constituents by addressing the root causes of violence by reducing poverty, increasing access and availability to mental health services, training educators to recognize the signs, intervention programs, and many other things that can actually make a difference, not only on reducing violence but improving lives.
